Co-Facilitators: Misty Cockerill and Roy Schubert - have firsthand experience of homicide loss and are well trained in facilitation skills offering compassion and understanding.

There is no cost to take part in the support group

One of the primary goals of our homicide loss, self-help support group program is to provide a safe and supportive environment in which group members can express and explore their thoughts and feelings as they learn to mourn well so that they can go on to live well and love well.

This group is made possible in part by financial assistance from the Province of British Columbia and in-kind support from M2W2 Restorative Christian Ministries.
